Spring has always represented the beginnings of new life and fresh starts. We are reminded of those memories driving past farmers' fields and watching new born lambs take their very first few wobbly steps amongst the bright green fields.

INSPIRATION & INFLUENCES

Not forgetting hearing the first bird songs after a lengthy migration, squirrels scampering across the gardens, inviting all the wildlife back out after a long slumber.

It is always a delight coming out of winter and watching those dull grey backdrops flourish into infinite miles of golden corn fields, pale lavender plants and vibrant lime green meadows, inspiring the creation of 'Lilac Fog', 'Violet Sepal' and 'Pea Green'.

These images evoke the colours of blossoming lavender buds, which inspired heavily the spring colour palette. This is complimented with shades of green, specifically the mouth watering 'Mint' green, which gives the palette the vibrancy of life that spring embodies.

Most exciting is being able to enjoy warm days outside again, basking in the fresh air under the sun's kind rays of light. Listening to the breeze between the trees and the new shed of leaves once recovered from the cold, harsh winter before.

Spring is the first chance to be surrounded by family and friends over a pretty picnic in the park and a game of rounders or football. It is the opportunity to embrace the fresh fruits and variety of locally sourced humble foods all finely compiled into one beautiful spread. It was in this particular thought of spring that inspired 'Butterscotch' and 'Living Coral', which evidently represent the flavours of spring.
